SAN FRANCISCO FCU MAKES STRIDES AGAINST BREAST CANCER

San Francisco, Calif. (November 6, 2009) – San Francisco Federal Credit Union raised over $2,000 for the fight against breast cancer during October.

San Francisco Federal Credit Union hosted a variety of activities to collect funds and to raise awareness for breast cancer. The Golden Gate Branch hosted a bake sale supported by staff volunteers who enthusiastically baked treats for this fundraiser. The Credit Union also held ice cream socials at the workplace, with proceeds to go toward the fight against Breast Cancer. To top it off, staff walked off the calories from the baked goods and ice cream at American Cancer Society's Making Strides Against Breast Cancer, a five-mile walk on Saturday, October 18 in Golden Gate Park. San Francisco Federal Credit Union raises funds for different causes each year, and they know how to have fun doing it.

Courtney Derby, Membership Development Manager says, "Here at San Francisco Federal Credit Union, we are committed to the health and wealth of our community. Through various fundraising events and the walk itself, both staff and members showed their support in the fight against Breast Cancer."

Breast cancer is a disease that will strike nearly 200,000 times this year and claim more than 40,000 lives, according to the American Cancer Society. Making Strides is a non-competitive walk to raise awareness and dollars to fight breast cancer. Pledges are dedicated to life-saving American Cancer Society research, education, advocacy and patient service programs to defeat the disease.
