SAN FRANCISCO FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
HIRES CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER
Brad Morrison Joins Senior Leadership Team

SAN FRANCISCO (August 20, 2018) — San Francisco Federal Credit Union announced today that Brad Morrison has joined the credit union as chief information officer, to lead the technology group toward a streamlined and innovative platform that will meet the growing needs of its members. This announcement was made by Jonathan Oliver, president and chief executive officer of San Francisco Federal Credit Union.

“We are excited to welcome Brad as part of the team,” Oliver said. “His experience and vision will greatly assist us to move to the next level of technology and information systems. Providing the most state-of-the art and secure financial services for our members is paramount to our long-term growth objectives.”

“I’m looking forward to working closely with the management team, and the dedicated employees of San Francisco Federal Credit Union,” Morrison said. “Providing sustainable and market driven technological solutions is a vital part of my job, and I’m looking forward to the challenge.”

Morrison has more than 30 years of technical, strategy, security, and development experience in the financial, healthcare, and manufacturing industries as well as with several startups. Prior to joining San Francisco Federal Credit Union, he was a partner of Sunnyvale-based 2Down LLC., and he has held various executive-level IT positions throughout his career within the manufacturing, technology and bio medical industries. A U.S. Navy veteran, Morrison holds a bachelor of science in computer science from California State University, Hayward.
